Randolph Macon Nips Hounds, 6-4 For M-D Crown

by Bob Roesner

For the first time since the inauguration of the Mason-Dixon Conference, Loyola is not upon the throne of the baseball realm. The title was lost by dropping a very close, hotly played, 6-4 ball game to Randolph-Macon at Ashland, Virginia.

In the opening inning the Yellow Jackets first stung the Hounds as Hovis reached base on an error and was driven in on a triple by Gloubic, Randolph-Macon's catcher. Gloubic scored for run number two on a single by Churn. This was all until the third inning when Gloubic reached base on a fielder's choice and was again driven home by Churn. Randolph-Macon made the score 4-0 when Pete McCann hit for the circuit in the fourth.

Hounds Score Three

In the fifth inning the Loyola bats began to roar. Carroll hit a clean single, Don Semesky walked and Bill Tucker slashed out a driving single. Carroll scored as Boone hit into a fielder's choice. With a man on first and third, Butch Lind hit a ball to left field which soared over the fielder's head for a triple, driving in two more runs. This made it 4-3 in favor of the Jackets.

Then came the big and fatal seventh inning. Tucker started the inning when he almost knocked down the shortstop with a slashing hit. Tucker stole second. At this point, Randolph-Macon rushed in

Three Appointed To Editorial Posts

Frank Collins, C. Rodgers Kines and Gerard McCormick were appointed to editorial positions on THE GREYHOUND this week.

Collins becomes the Assistant Advertising Manager under Jerry Jackson. Kines, a member of both the news and feature staffs during the past year, succeeds William Heffner as Feature Editor. McCormick was appointed Assistant Sports Editor to Mickey Parr

Kenning Announces June Banquet

Calvert Kenning, Business Manager, announced tentative plans early this week for THE GREYHOUND staff banquet on June 7 in the College Cafeteria. All staff members are invited to attend.

Edwin A. Young, City Editor of The Evening Sun, and teacher of journalism in the Loyola College Evening School, will be the guest of honor. Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., will be toastmaster.

Retiring staff members will be awarded GREYHOUND pins, symbolic of their service to the paper.

Faculty Adds 8 Teachers

Eight teachers have been added to the faculty of the day school and are teaching during the spring term, according to information released last week by the Dean's Office.

Three of the new professors are teaching in the Business Administration course, three are English teachers, and the two others are conducting classes in Law and Cosmology. The Rev. Frederick Scott, S. J., who has just completed his Theology at Woodstock is now teaching Cosmology.

Three In Business Course

The business course additions are Mr. John C. Reese, Mr. Matthews C. Waddell and Mr. Edward E. White.

Mr. Reese, who holds an M.A. from Saint Mary's University, is teaching Insurance, and Mr. Waddell is teaching Statistics. Mr. White, a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Honorary Fraternity, is lecturing in Marketing and Industrial Management.

English Additions

Dr. P. Edward Kaltenbach, Mr. Cornelius Moxley and Mr. Robert Tyler are now teachers in the English department. Kaltenbach is holding classes in Classical Literature and Speech. Moxley is teaching Drama and has a master's degree from the University of Maryland. Tyler is an instructor in Speech.

Carl F. Gottschalk, an A. B. graduate of Loyola College in addition to holding his law degree, is the new law professor.

The January and May classes of 1949 will slip back a hundred years tonight when they hold their Junior Prom at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel from nine until one. While Carl Hamilton and his orchestra furnish the music at the formal affair, the couples will return to the gold rush days of a century ago. It will be strictly the night of the '49er's.

The presidents of the two classes, Joseph T. Raphael of the January group and Raymond E. Parr of the May class, have revealed the names of the Prom Queens who will receive the traditional bouquets. It will be the first time in Loyola history that two Queens will be honored at the same prom.

Parr Publicity Chief

Raphael's partner will be Miss Evelyn Liberti, and Parr will escort Miss Kathleen Engers.

Parr, who is also Chairman of the Publicity Committee, plans to have a life size, paper mache figure of a prospector and his mule as a background for the dance. Adding to the gold rush motif, there will be gold imitation coins placed on all the tables. The program will emphasize the motif with the cover picturing a prospector.

Floral Decorations

Morton Gilden and Philip Hauswald, co-chairmen of the dance, and Louis Schmidt are in charge of arrangements, and various floral displays for decorations have been planned by them.

The Committee made arrangements with a local florist to give special corsage service and reduced rates to those students who contacted the Loyola representative. The corsages will be delivered to the Belvedere.

105 LOYOLA GRADUATES pay final tribute to the college by singing the Alma Mater at commencement last week.

Installation Of Officers To Highlight TKA Banquet

Installation of four newly elected officers will highlight the June 19 banquet of Loyola's chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, National Honor Forensic Fraternity, according to James A. Perrott, faculty sponsor. The banquet will be held at the Hotel Stafford.

The main guest at the banquet will be Dr. David Potter of Rutgers University, who will present the TKA charter to the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College. In addition to Dr. Potter, the banquet will be attended by leading members of the fraternity throughout the country.

Nine Are Selected

Following the presentation of the charter, the nine Loyola students selected for membership will be inducted. Those chosen, picked on a basis of scholarship and oratorical ability, are Terrence E. Burke, John C. Evelius, Donald E. Fay, Francis X. Gallagher, Winston T.

Kourey, J. Allan Panuska, John H. Plunkett, Edward F. Shea and Dudley M. Shoemaker.

Shea, elected president last month, will receive the gavel from Father Talbot after the induction.

First Jesuit College

The banquet will mark the recognition of Loyola as the first Jesuit college in the United States to be accepted for Tau Kappa Alpha. Mr. Perrott and Shea are in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

Alpha Sigma Nu Inducts Seven

At the annual banquet of the Alpha Sigma Nu on Sunday, June 13, at the Evergreen Faculty House, seven members will be invested and officers will be elected for the coming year.

Selected on the qualifications of scholarship, loyalty and service, Francis X. Gallagher, Austin L. Byrd, Sidney L. Shapero, Spencer L. Davidson, Thomas F. Comber, E. O'Neil Cole and John C. Evelius will be invested in the Jesuit Honorary Fraternity by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J.

Alumni Members Present

The Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of Loyola College, will be present at the banquet along with the alumni members of the fraternity. Scholastic members are to attend to complete the fraternal representation. Each member to be invested has been active and representative of almost every function at Loyola.

Gallagher and Evelius are active in the Debating Society, the Quarterly and THE GREYHOUND publications. Byrd, president of dramatics, and Comber, chess club head, also served on THE GREYHOUND, of which Davidson was editor.

Athletic Ability

Neil Cole was a member of the baseball and basketball squads as well as vice-president of the Math Club. Shapero served as president of both the History Academy and the International Relations Club.

Night School Enrollment Up To 307; Four New Courses Given

Total enrollment in the Evening School of Adult Education during the present spring term stands at 307, the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., Dean, announced this week. Included in the total are forty-two day school students.

Of the forty-one courses offered, thirty-one are being given during the term which began on May 24 and which extends to July 14.

New Teachers Listed

Among the new teachers are the Reverend Frederick Scott, S. J., Cosmology; Dr. John E. Conley, Public Relations; Mr. Paul T. Broderick, Fundamental Journalism; Miss Smuck, Audio-Visual Aids and Mr. Aquino, Epistemology.

New courses offered and given for the first time are Fundamental Journalism, Audio-Visual Aids, Chaucer and Public Relations.

459 Courses Taken

The 307 students are taking 459 courses, an average of approximately 1.5 courses per student. Of the 42 day school students, thirty-nine are taking one course, with the other three taking two each.

Included in the 459 courses taken are included 63 students who are taking the non-credit Journalism course. This particular course is designed to offer student journalists an opportunity for instruction in the organization of newspapers and other publications.

Three Groups Plan Election Meetings

As THE GREYHOUND is readied for the presses, several of the school's societies and classes have announced that there will be special meetings for election of officers.

The Debating Society met yesterday in Room 104 to select a new group of men to head that activity. The Class of July, '49 will meet today at 12:30 to nominate seven men for the four major offices. Final elections take place next Friday.

The Dramatic Society has also announced that elections will take place next week.

Loyola's Faculty Librarian Unknown Poet And Writer

by Louis Mathai

In a small room in the Faculty House, well hidden and unbeknown to the majority of Loyola students, there resides a writer and friend of Joyce Kilmer, Mr. Henry Watts. Although Mr. Watts repeatedly dubs himself a "pants presser," his official capacity consists in caring for the magazine section of the faculty library (a right-hand man of Father Talbot).

Mr. Watts, a friendly, disarming man with a ~~flair~~ for quoting poetry and laughing heartily, came to America from England in 1913. He was at one time a professed Anglican Benedictine monk, living in a monastery on Caldry Island in South Wales.

Catholic Convert

He was converted to Catholicism along with the entire group of monks after, as he put it, "the Bishop began to become too oppressive. The group called a conference and decided the Catholic Church was the place where we belonged. The people who supported the abbey didn't like the idea so well, and later Mr. Asquith, at that time the Prime Minister of England, introduced the subject into the House of Commons. It was not until some time later that a settlement was reached."

He worked for a while as Associate Editor on The Lamb, a publication of the Atonement Brothers in New York. Sometime later he became associated with Joyce Kilmer as a "clerk or follower" during the time that Mr. Kilmer was poetry editor of The Literary Digest and a staff writer on the New York Times.

Friend Of Kilmer

Mr. Watts had an immense personal regard for Mr. Kilmer and accompanied him when he went to interview people.

"Later, when Mr. Kilmer had taken notes in some form of queer hieroglyphics all his own, we would return and he would dictate while I typed. While he dictated he would walk up and down. Despite noises of all types and descriptions, he could continue dictating as long as he kept walking.

Mr. Watts has written articles for the New York Times Book Review, America, the Columbian and the 19th Century. He was at one time an associate correspondent with N. C. W. C., with a radio station in England, and with the Foreign Office in England between 1918 and 1925.

'43 Graduate Forms New Orchestra Here

Loyola graduates are doing well in chemical fields during the day but one is not satisfied to stick to the drudgery of day work. Howard Whelan, '43, who is engaged in chemical development work at U. S. Industrial Chemical Company at Fairfield, has formed an orchestra.

The group is now appearing every Saturday evening at Pierce's, Washington Blvd. and Dorsey Road.

Debating Group Re-elects Evelius

John C. Evelius was re-elected president of the Robert Bellarmine Debating Society for the 1949 season at a special meeting in Room 104 yesterday at 12:30 p. m.

Lawrence R. Mooney was chosen vice-president; Edward A. North, recording secretary and Eugene W. Welsh, corresponding secretary.

Former President

Evelius, who has served as president for the past year, was elected in a closely contested race with Money. Evelius is also a Sodality member and was recently elected a member of Alpha Sigma Nu.

Mooney has been active in Debating for the past year, having participated in the Prize Debate. Both North and Welsh have also been active members in the Debating Society for the last year.

Plan Outing

At the meeting, plans were made for an outing for the members on Friday, June 11. Evelius announced that when final plans are ready, the members will be notified.

The Debaters gave a rising vote of thanks to Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., who has been Moderator for the last three years.

The final debate of the 1948 scholastic year will take place at the Kiwanis Club of Catonsville on Monday, June 14.

Tennis Tourney Planned

If enough students are interested, an Evening School Tennis Tournament will be conducted during the Spring Term. Entry blanks are available at the Evening School Office this week. All entries must be in by today. Play begins the week of June 7. Any student registered in the Evening School during the Spring Term may enter—separate tournaments for male and female students.

Six Water Fountains Make Sudden Campus Appearance

by Robert S. Custer

"Water, water, everywhere, till all the boards did shrink; Water, water, everywhere, not a drop to drink." That is the used-to-be theme song of Loyola students. Certainly the liquid that came up through the fountains could not go under the name of water. Diluted hydrochloric acid, maybe; stale, flat seltzer fizz, maybe; or scrapings from the troughs of the chemical labs, maybe—but Water? Never!

Ah! But things have changed! Six new, shiny coolers now grace the campus. Three are in the science building, one on the first and second floor of the Library building, and one in Lefty's emporium. These machines, humming powerfully as they refrigerate, are the latest in style and efficiency.

And, wonder of wonders, when you press the button—water—cool, clean, sparkling water—jumps up in a strong steady stream to your lips. And now the veterans can leave their canteens home, and those wealthy non-vets can let their parents use the thermos bottles again. Yes, the big news on the Evergreen campus is water—water to drink, and with the predicted heat of the Spring term on its way, it is none too soon.

Now, the constant prayer of the maintenance department is that the things hold up. Whether they do or don't, at least for a few weeks we won't die of thirst.

William W. Wright, Ph.D.

Among the recent graduates of Loyola who have completed graduate studies at the universities, we list in this issue, William W. Wright, '44, who will receive the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Biochemistry from Georgetown University on June 14.

Bill graduated from Loyola in 1944 with the degree of Bachelor of Science, magna cum laude. On graduation he was awarded a fellowship at Georgetown University and spent one year there working in the field of Biochemistry. Continuing his studies and also beginning to work for the government in the chemical field, he completed his first stage of graduate work and received the degree of Master of Science from Georgetown in June 1946.

At present Bill is employed as a chemist in the Penicillin Division of the Food and Drug Administration. The title of his dissertation submitted as partial fulfillment of the requirements for his Doctorate is "The Estimation of Penicillins K and X by Chemical Means Involving Distribution Ratios."

Alumni Dance Report

Chairman J. Joseph Curran of the Dance Committee reports the dance held in the Alumni Gymnasium on Saturday, May 22, a gratifying success. All who attended commented on the enjoyable evening provided by the Committee making arrangements. The purpose of the occasion was to introduce the new graduates to the older Alumni. The Committee was particularly pleased with the number of this year's graduates who attended. From the graduates who were present the Committee has received expressions of appreciation and indications of future interest in Alumni activities.

Closing Of Alumni Year

With the summer months the annual calendar of Alumni activities comes to a close. Activity will be resumed with the Annual Meeting in October at which time the Officers look forward to an increased attendance. During the months of the summer you can be of great assistance to the Association and its officers if you will keep us informed of any items of Alumni news that you may receive. We are still looking for information of graduate degrees, new occupations, changes of address, announcements of marriages and births. Keep in touch with us and keep reading the columns of THE GREYHOUND for Alumni Doings.

52nd Street, Home Of Jazz, Now Numbered Among The Dead

by Larry Davis

"The Street" is dead. What Street? Why, Man! "Swing Street." That haven for jazz lovers located at Fifty-Second St. between Fifth and Seventh Aves. in New York City has become just another counterpart of "the Block" on West Baltimore St. in "Baltimore, Maryland" with "girlie-show" corn as high as an elephant's eye (Apologies to Rodgers and Hammerstein).

No longer can one hear the vibrant and gutty horns of Bobby Hackett and Wingy Manone, the artful piano moods of Teddy Wilson and Art Tatum, or the rich and meaningful voices of Billy Holiday or Sarah Vaughan. No, today, you get "Camille-Six Foot Six," Cantonese dishes, and "Symphony Sid," a disc-jockey. Thus, unless there is a sudden revival, another era has passed in the history of jazz.

What's the reason? Have people lost interest in the real jazz? Leonard Feather, jazz critic, thinks not. From his personal observation and talks with night club owners, Mr. Feather has listed the following reasons for the slump: (1) the high cost of living—people trim their budgets first by stopping nightclub expenditures; (2) lack of talent with sufficient drawing power, (3) managers and agents who put such a high price on talent that does have drawing power; (4) rotten liquor served at sky-high prices by discourteous waiters; (5) the lowlife reputation "The Street" has acquired through its fringe of dope-peddlers, and assorted characters.

All of the above reasons are self explanatory and the existing conditions show no evidence of becoming better. The question now is, "Where does Jazz go from here?"

NFCCS Plans Drive For Student Relief

The NFCCS in the Baltimore-Washington Region has closed shop for the summer.

Plans, under the direction of the new slate of Council officers, are being crystallized for next year. They include a drive for World Student Relief, an activity in which the region has been so far been defunct.

Sudent directors will be appointed in each school to carry on this drive. The position is still open at Loyola and offers students an opportunity for executive enterprise towards a goal deemed worthy by church and U. N. leaders.

This drive is the second step in the effort started with this year's financial collection.

Class Of May '49, Names Parr, Spurrier Officers

by Donald E. Fay

Raymond E. Parr became president of the May class of 1949 as the result of elections conducted late last week. John W. Spurrier was elected to the office of vice-president, and Richard Tommey was chosen secretary. The duties of treasurer were given to Eugene Brost.

Announcement of the results was made by Edward J. McNeal and his committeemen, who supervised the elections and tabulated the ballots.

Parr Receives 103

Approximately sixty percent of the class participated in the elections, and Parr was the victor by the close margin of 27 points.

In all, the winner polled 103 points on the basis of four points for president, three for vice-president, two for secretary, and one for treasurer.

Spurrier totalled 86 votes and was closely followed by Tommey's 31. Brost received 67 points.

Sports Editor

Parr, a graduate of Loyola High School, was formerly publicity director for the Athletic Association. He is now sports editor of THE GREYHOUND.

Interested in journalism as a future career, Parr has been employed by The Baltimore Sun and is working as Bill Dyer's assistant and statistician at the Oriole baseball games this summer.

1800 Persons See Marelyn

Over eighteen hundred persons attended the production, Marelyn, which was presented by the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society of Loyola College at the Cadoa on May 24, 25 and 26.

The show, an original production written and played by Loyola students, was a financial success according to Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., Moderator of the Society and director of the show.

Enthusiastic newspaper reviews were given Marelyn in all the Baltimore papers. The Publicity Director, William Heffner, arranged for publication of nearly a score of articles and features dealing with the musical extravaganza.

All radio stations devoted time to programs and several made spot announcements advertising it during the week preceding the production.

Debaters Appear Before Kiwanis

The Bellarmine Debating Society of Loyola College will stage its final debate of the 1947-48 debating season at the Kiwanis Club of Catonsville on June 14. The debate will be preceded by a dinner which the debaters will attend.

This year has seen the debating team more active than it has been for some time. Nearly fifty debates have been included in the organization's crowded schedule. The season was highlighted by a trip to Philadelphia and to New York.

100 Photos In Senior Annual

The 1948 Evergreen, yearbook of Loyola College, appeared on Wednesday, May 19.

It was a product of the concerted efforts of the three 1948 graduating classes—January, May, and July—each of which was represented on the Evergreen editorial staff. Co-operative publication was necessary in order to allow one yearbook to serve all graduates.

The 1948 Evergreen contains over one hundred photographs in addition to those of the 195 graduates. Included are scenes from the year's sports events and from Sound of Hunting, a major Dramatic Society production.

The yearbook also contains group photographs of all Loyola classes and clubs.

There are still a number of annuals available. Students will be contacted next week by the Staff in order to sell the remaining books. They can be purchased at the bookstore.

News In Brief

Thomas G. Daniels, former prefect of the Junior Sodality, will be married to Miss Mary Jean Roche at St. Mary's Church on June 5. The Rev. Edward S. Hauber, S. J., Professor of Chemistry at Loyola, will celebrate the Mass.

The bride-to-be is the sister of Louis Roche, a Loyola Junior, and of Sid Roche, '46.

The engagement of Miss Mariangela Lacy to John F. Fetting has been announced. Fetting is a graduate of the '46 class. The date for the wedding has not yet been set.

Miss Lacy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Lacy and the sister of James Lacy, Loyola Junior.

The Junior Sodality held its annual spring picnic at Middle River on Monday, May 24. Approximately thirty-five Sodality members attended. Mr. Joseph A. Sellinger, S. J., moderator, arranged the picnic.

"The Alice Waltz," one of George Herman's hit songs from the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society's production "Marelyn," will be published very soon. Burke and Van Huesen, who write all of Bing Crosby's music, want to look over the rest of the score, which may also be published.

Class Of '23 Holds Reunion Banquet

The Loyola Class of 1923 was entertained at a dinner sponsored by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, and the School faculty on May 20 at 6 p. m. The dinner was attended by seven twenty-five year men, in the Faculty House.

The seven '23 graduates present were: the Rev. J. Maurice King, of the Church of the Ascension, Bowie; the Rev. Joseph McCourt, of Belair; the Rev. Charles H. Yingling, of Joan of Arc Church, Aberdeen; Michael F. Delea; George F. Eichelman; Dr. Francis X. Morris; and James G. O'Neill.

Hidden Truth

There was a rather timely message conveyed by the arrangement of two of the religious pamphlets on the rack in the Library Building. The two cover pages, side by side, proclaimed the following dictum: Hints For Happiness—Religion Is Only For Weaklings.

A New Face

With justifiable pride, we point to the Loyola College sign whose L's have been replaced. Although the University of Maryland wrecking crew did reduce us to "oyo a Co ege," we were able to maintain our stately position in the community.

What we would like to know is what would you have if you removed the Terrapin from the University of Maryland? Turtle soup, maybe?

Snappy Definition

Among the many clever and modern definitions which were submitted to THE GREYHOUND office this week, we have selected for publication one of the more inferior. It was submitted by an instructor who prefers to remain anonymous.

Chess Bows Out

Now that scholastic chess has bowed out for the summer, the Morning Sun will be looking for other sporting events to fill the empty spaces.

Perhaps the varsity rock-piling squad will get a much-deserved break. Then too the Evergreen Tiddly-winks Seven may get that publicity they're after.

Happy Days Return

Now that school is coming to and end for Seton, Notre Dame, Loyola High, Hopkins and Friends, it appears that the average Loyola College student may soon be able to obtain a seat on the Number 11 bus.

Keep your fingers crossed lest the Transit Company decides to reduce the number of buses running on that line.

Accoustic Interferometer Given To Physics Dep't.

An accoustic interferometer, which was used by the Rev. Thomas Quigley, S. J., in preparation for his doctorate thesis at the Johns Hopkins University, has been presented to the Physics Department of Loyola College.

The presentation was made through the courtesy of Dr. John C. Hubbard, formerly Professor of Physics at Hopkins and now Director of Research in Physics at Catholic University.

The name of William J. Thaler, who was graduated from Loyola last year and who now is doing graduate work in physics at Catholic University, appeared on the program of the American Physical Society in Washington last week.

Mr. Thaler collaborated on an important research paper on ultrasounds. He is continuing his study of this subject under the direction of Dr. John C. Hubbard, one of the world's leading ultra-sonics authorities.

The Critique

by George Herman

Many of the hundreds of people who came to see the musical revue Marelyn at the Cadoa last Monday and then came Tuesday night and were treated to a new show with a barbecued script, went home saying that it was one of the best musical comedies since the blue moon.

I think few, if any, theatre-goers really know the difference between a musical-comedy, a musical-revue, an intimate musical-revue, and the extravaganza. "Marelyn" was an intimate musical-revue. Shows of this type often become hits, because the expenses are cut almost to the vanishing point, and thus, a week's run often assures a profit.

Broadway this season has an intimate musical revue hit in the Hartman show Angel In The Wings which based its popularity on the song hits "Civilization" and "The Thousand Islands Song." A musical revue has the same mode as the intimate musical revue in that it has no plot, but a thin thread of story that binds several separate scenes together.

The musical revue differs, however, in the fact that it has a higher expense list. Once we get beyond the $8,000 point, then we graduate from the musical revue to the extravaganza. A mammoth extravaganza has monstrous sets and floats. All the Ziegfeld Follies were extravaganzas. There hasn't been a true extravaganza on Broadway since the Follies, except last season's Dream With Music which was too boring to hold the interest raised by the scenery and the costumes.

The musical comedy is entirely different because it has a plot and the music should be woven into the script and the dialogue. Good News, Oklahoma!, and hundreds of current hits are musical comedies as are Brigadoon and Finian's Rainbow.

Another distinction is the arty-musical-comedy which believes in tragedy set to music rather than comedy. Allegro was an experiment in this mode. Catholic University's Alley Moon also fell into this category. However, such a form is doomed to destruction unless the artisan who writes such a manuscript is an acknowledged student of sentimentality and human interest. Let that be a lesson to you!

Editorials

Poor, Poor Reds

The Editor of THE GREYHOUND was honored this week by a letter from the poor, persecuted Communist Party of America. In the letter, the Reds bewail the impending passage of the Mundt-Nixon bill as "a fascist-like measure."

They cry to the gods of justice for their rights. They want the rights of "speech, press, assemblage and the right to follow the dictates of one's own conscience." (Any similarity to that of Joseph Stalin is purely accidental.) In short, the Reds want those precious liberties which the Communists ruling foreign nations refuse to give to the citizens of those countries.

The American Communists are hiding behind the skirts of the Constitution. The sad thing about this situation is that the Communists are basically opposed to everything for which the Constitution stands.

Today, because it is most beneficial to do so, the Communists are the staunchest friends the Constitution ever had. Tomorrow, if its suits their viperine aims, the Reds in America will work furiously, battle madly and die fanatically to destroy it and every vestige of democracy this land has ever known.

Perhaps the Mundt-Nixon Bill will be defeated on the grounds that it violates civil liberties. Then the Communists will proclaim to all the world that democratic ideals have been preserved—and along with them, the Communists.

It may not be too many years hence that the American people, conquered and chained by the Reds for whom civil liberties were safeguarded in 1948, will cry to those Communists for the exercise of those rights.

Do you think that the Communists, ruling America in 1960, will give the American citizens those liberties for which the Reds cry so tearfully today?

Curtain Call

Marelyn is now but a happy memory. The success of this enterprise will go down into Loyola's history as one of the outstanding examples of what can be accomplished when the interest is high enough and the spirit of cooperation is great enough.

Certainly congratulations are in order from the entire faculty and student body. Marelyn was a 100% Loyola show. Written by, participated in and directed by Loyola students, it was a project which demonstrated what can be done.

There is one point to be made here. The students who were responsible for its success are, strangely enough, responsible for the success of most of the activity at the College. They represent about 10% of the student body.

It would be a wondrous thing if this fever for school loyalty and unselfish devotion were to spread itself to the entire student body. There would be no limit to what could be done if all the students worked for Loyola as industriously as do the ever-present 10%.

This year has all but ended. Those who have not joined in school activity can resolve to make a determined effort to mean something more next year to Loyola College than a person who attends classes and capably occupies one chair in the assembly hall.

Changing Values

There was a time when the mere possession of a college diploma was considered to be the magical passport to golden security and worldly success. A college man was a scarcity and then, as now, people were willing to pay for scarce items.

But now all of that belongs to the past. In this mass production era, we find that our nation's higher educational institutions are rolling streamlined graduates off the classroom assembly lines just as fast as the printers can produce diplomas. A college graduate is no longer a man to be stamped an automatic success.

This is one of the best things which could happen to our nation. Too many people have held high positions merely because their parents were able to sustain the financial burden of sending them to college. Now that the market is being flooded with college graduates, they are going to have to prove their worth more than ever before.

They are going to have to be able to perform their jobs well because there will be a vast number of educationally-equipped persons ready and able to replace them.

True it is that a college diploma may be a decided advantage in obtaining a position, but the graduate will come to realize that he will have to produce to hold that position. Competition is a healthy sign and it is time that it came to a larger degree to the college graduate.

The Graduates

The following poem was sent to THE GREYHOUND by Mr. Isaac S. George, '01, who was awarded the Carroll Medal at this year's Commencement Exercises for being the alumnus who was outstanding in his devotion to Loyola during the past year.

Their last damn exam has been taken
And answers to questions all made
Their spirits are pregnant with hoping
That somehow they've mounted the grade;
And surely we'll look with no envy
If all of them loaf overmuch
And rest from the frequent attendance
At lectures and quizzes and such.

They've puzzled their minds and their memories
They have sat many days in their seats
And studied with care and attention
The problems that each student meets.
But now that the long trial has ended
And all of the Profs leave 'em flat
They'll enter with fervor the struggle
As each takes his own turn at bat.

May all of the knowledge they've garnered
In learning of things they must do
Uphold them in life and its labors
By standards eternal and true.
May all of their efforts to fruitful
May all of them meet every test
Till Peter the last of the quizzers
Admits them to fields that are blest.

BOOKS

COLLECTED POEMS

by Sister M. Madeleva

The Collected Poems of Sister M. Madeleva, C.S.C., is a small book packed with the best of the poetical works of one of the greatest Catholic women poets of today. Selections for this collection are made from such works as her Knights Errant, Penelope, Question of Lovers, Gates, and Four Girls.

Sister Madeleva's childhood days in Wisconsin, where she knew the beauty of lakes and woods and felt the joy of simple living, coupled with her training and poetic talent, has aided her in producing poetry which is simple in construction, yet deep in content. Her poetry treats of Christ, the Blessed Virgin, life, death, love, man, and nature.

There is something very human in her treatment of the poems about Christ. While she remembers His Divinity she is more obviously concerned with presenting the humanity of Christ. Her poetry presents Christ as our brother — loving, merciful, and kind.

In her poems concerning human nature there is something of a medieval flavor. Always she is aware of the dualism of man's nature. Even when she rises to great heights in the realm of spirituality, as she does in some of her poems, she never forgets that she is on this earth, and is composed of body as well as soul.

This idea of a life of love, love of all things in God, is basic to many other ideas which she expresses in her poetry. The unrest and desire to be free, found in some of her poems, especially those of death, is not the uncertain restlessness which ends in despair; but it is that restlessness which comes from a desire to be free of oneself and to be with Him who is all Love.

Student Support Is Big Factor For Winning Teams

by Mickey Parr, Sports Editor

With The Lineup having been placed in the hands of another member of the staff, it is now your correspondent's task to philosophize, prophesy, praise, criticize, and comment in general on circumstances and events in the Greyhound sports world.

This column will be dedicated to such a purpose, with the hope that the writer (newly appointed as Sports Editor) will be able to foster an increasingly strong and loyal student support of Loyola athletics.

You know, people speak of a player's physical assets, his aptitude, his natural ability, etc., when discussing an athlete's value in any particular sport. But there's one factor that isn't always given enough attention, and that is SPIRIT.

It's spirit that keeps the second baseman in there digging, after making an error. It's spirit that makes a team fight back and knock off a favored opponent, after having been banged around in the early stages of the game.

And the biggest progenitor of this mental uplift is strong, loyal support by the fans. It's you, believe it or not, who may make the difference between a winning and a losing team. It's you who can keep the squad up on its toes in the face of the most discouraging setbacks.

It takes only a couple hours of your time to get out for a baseball game, tennis match, or basketball test. You'll enjoy it and at the same time be as big a part of the Athletic Association as any athlete ever was.

Basketball Outlook Brightens

All the news about next season's basketball quint is not sad, despite departure of the incomparable Jim Lacy from the campus. You can put away the crying towels, because Coach Lefty Reitz has come up with a young fellow, who, if he lives up to his reputation, bids fair to fill the gap very nicely, indeed.

Bob Anderson is the name, and you should have no trouble spotting him around the school. He's 6' 4" tall, weighs about 200 pounds and is built as solid as the proverbial rock.

The Newark, N. J., lad played ball with Mike Zedalis while in the Army at Fort Sam Houston. According to Mike, Bob should be the answer to our need for a tall pivot man who can feed, and shoot with either hand.

Look it over. Anderson in the pivot spot, Andy O'Donnell guiding play from the floor, Zedalis shooting from angles close around the basket, Bill Johnson with his one-handers, and perhaps Vince Gallagher drawing the opposition out with his long, high set shots.

For a brief glance at the offensive picture, that doesn't appear bad at all.

Alumni Bowling

The Alumni Bowling League wound up its first year successfully on May 13 as the Class of '47 drubbed the class of January '43 in a three-game rolloff.

A banquet was held on Thursday, June 3, in the Recreation Room at 6:30 p.m. for the league members, at which time the prizes for high scorers and team winners was awarded. Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Alpha Sigma Nu Alumni Club plaque bearing the names of the victorious

Netters Wallop LaSalle; Lose To St. Joseph's

The College tennis team scored its second victory of the season over the La Salle College netters, of Philadelphia, defeating the visiting club by an 8-1 score.

Jerry Laroque, playing the number one spot in place of Frank Scrivener, defeated Maguire of La Salle, winning two straight sets 6-0. The remainder of the squad also moved up one notch. Still undefeated for the past two seasons, Jim Lacy defeated the visitors' number two man, 6-2 and 6-0. Gene Nolan, Joe Thaler and Ed Ward also succeeded in adding another victory to their credit.

Forty-Six Game Match

Forty-six games were played in the number six match before Kolinka of La Salle emerged as the victor of Tom McDermott. The score for the match was 7-5, 11-13 and 6-4.

In the number one doubles match, Lacy and Nolan teamed together to defeat a combination of Maguire and Murawski. Bill Monaghan and Bill McDermott pooled their skills to win the number two doubles, while Jack Schanberger and Andy O'Donnell came out on top in the final match of the afternoon.

The summary:

SINGLES
Laroque, Loyola, defeated Maguire, 6-0, 6-0.
Lacy, Loyola, defeated Smith, 6-2, 6-0.
Nolan, Loyola, defeated McHale, 6-0, 6-0.
Thaler, Loyola, defeated Murawski, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.
Ward, Loyola, defeated Foster, 6-2, 4-6, 8-6.

Kolinka, La Salle, defeated T. McDermott, 7-5, 11-13, 6-4.

DOUBLES

Lacy and Nolan, Loyola, defeated Maguire and Murawski, 6-2, 6-3.
B. McDermott and Monaghan, Loyola, defeated Smith and Foster, 6-4, 8-6.

The second defeat of the season was pinned on the tennis team Friday of Exam Week by St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia. This defeat is the third set-back in two seasons of play. Jerry Laroque, playing number one, and Jim Lacy in the number two slot were the only singles victors for the Hounds. They also combined to win the lone doubles match for Loyola.

In three of the other four singles matches however, the visiting players were carried to three sets before their victory was complete. The last time these two teams met, Loyola had little trouble in defeating St. Joe, 7-1.

The summary:

SINGLES

Laroque, Loyola, defeated Gilliland, 6-2, 6-1.
Lacy, Loyola, defeated Wilcox, 6-1, 13-11.
Phelan, St. Joe, defeated Nolan, 6-1, 1-6, 8-6.
Jordan, St. Joe, defeated Thaler, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.
Bateman, St. Joe, defeated Ward, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.
Randolph, St. Joe, defeated Krug, 6-4, 6-3.

DOUBLES

Lacy and Laroque, Loyola, defeated Gilliland and Wilcox, 6-3, 6-2.
Phelan and Jordan, St. Joe, defeated Nolan and McDermott, 6-0, 6-2.

Cronin Is Medalist

Loyola's linksmen closed their very successful season by winning the Maryland Intercollegiate Golf Championship in a tournament held on May 22, at the Naval Academy course.

Through the season the golfers won nine out of eleven matches, bowing only to Georgetown and Villanova. They won the Mason-Dixon Championship in a tournament held here in Baltimore and placed second out of eight colleges in the Western Maryland Invitation Tournament at Westminster.

Revenge Against Maryland

Winning the tournament at Annapolis gave the golfers added pleasure because they beat out, by one stroke, University of Maryland, which had previously taken first honors in the Western Maryland Invitation tourney.

The defending champion, Navy, finished third and Johns Hopkins trailed in fourth place.

Not only did Loyola win the team total but Jack Cronin also captured low medalist honors by shooting a pair of 79's to defeat Bill Cassidy, his nearest opponent, by two strokes.

Cronin Consistently Low Shooter

Cronin deserves much praise for his consistent 70's scored during the campaign and for winning low medal honors in the Mason-Dixon Tournament as well as the Maryland Intercollegiate Tourney. Jack is only a Freshman and Loyola opponents in the future will find themselves under steady pressure by this fine golfer.

Leonard Saltysiak shot rounds of 82-83 and placed fourth in the field of sixteen golfers. Len had some trouble in the Western Maryland Invitation Tourney but found him-

Hounds Split In Two Tests

Loyola 11, Villanova 5

The Greyhounds closed their season on a victorious note last Saturday at Evergreen and ended a losing skein of three games. The unexpected lacing of the Wildcats was fully appreciated by Coach Reitz, for Villanova is his old Alma Mater.

That Lefty wanted this game was patent when he threw his ace, Bill Carroll, into the fray. His choice was warranted, for Carroll pitched steady ball and whiffed ten batters while yielding but seven hits.

The 'Hounds exploded with nine big runs in the fourth and sent starter Jigger Donahue to an early shower. Skinny Simms' single, with the sacks loaded, brought in two runs. After Spurrier walked to again load the bases, Carroll helped his own cause with a sharp single to left field which drove in two more runners. Before the Villanova pitchers could put out the side, fourteen batters had trooped up to the plate. From there on it was merely a case of playing out the string. Carroll notched his fourth win of the season against two losses.

Hoyas Halt 'Hounds

With a hope of breaking back into the win column, Lefty Reitz sent big Dick Farace to the hill in Washington against Georgetown. However, his plans went awry when Tom Flynn, ace righthander of the 'Townners, handcuffed the visitors from Baltimore with three hits and sent the Reitzmen down to their third successive defeat, 8 to 0.

Spotty fielding by his mates kept Farace constantly in trouble, and combined with nine base hits, the Georgetowners rolled up eight runs.

Carroll Ranks Among Nation's Best; Offensive Tactics Score For Laroque

by Gerry McCormick

Bill Carroll

CARROLL

At the age of 19, Bill Carroll has had much more baseball experience than most players at the same point in their careers. This slender left hander whose fast ball has made him the ace of the Greyhound pitching staff, has pitched in high school and college leagues, played for several champion sandlot teams, and appeared in the 1946 nationwide All-Star game at the Polo Grounds in New York City.

Bill has a very simple pitching delivery with practically no wind-up, which he believes "hinders a pitcher's control." Although he is noted as a strikeout artist, Bill says that sometimes at the beginning of the game he doesn't feel very fast, and on these occasions he merely tries to keep the batters from hitting solidly. His fine record proves the value of this system.

Also Good Batter

There was a very definite change in the quality of ball as he advanced from high school to college ranks but Bill has been very successful.

Jerry Laroque

His record at Loyola is 6 wins against 3 losses, but a very important factor to be noted is his 1.7 earned run average.

Disproving the popular belief that "pitchers can't hit," Bill holds a lusty .350 batting average. This improvement he credits to Coach Lefty Reitz, who also taught him how to pick runners off base and to conceal the ball from the batter. He is of the opinion that many pitchers rely too much on curve balls instead of speed and control.

Gets Revenge With Win

Last year Washington College treated Bill rather badly, banging out a barrage of hits to win easily. But this spring he gained sweet revenge by completely handcuffing Washington with 18 strikeouts and a 10-2 victory. Most disheartening event this season was a last inning homer which deprived him of a victory over Seton Hall after pitching a fine game.

Bill is a pre-dental student and plans to go to University of Maryland after his graduation. He is also interested in playing professional ball after leaving Loyola.

LAROQUE

In two seasons of tennis at Loyola College Jerry Laroque has suffered but three defeats in more than 30 matches. Consideration of the quality of his competition makes this record even more impressive. The short, well-built sophomore has worked himself into the number two spot this year, close behind the well known Frank Scrivener.

Jerry had to work hard for his success; his back-hand game in particular has improved since last year, this due to his determined practice and the coaching of Mr. Vincent Colimore. Jerry considers five days of practice per week the minimum for any player who wants to succeed in tennis.

Offensive Minded

A good offensive game, where he can use his ample speed, is Jerry's strong point; he likes to rush the net as much as possible to catch the ball while it's still rising. He has little use for the defensive style with its slow, cautious tactics.

There are days, however, when you simply can't get started. Such a day occurred when Jerry played Bill Gifford of Catholic University; Gifford, decidedly the best player Jerry has played, managed to give him one of his few defeats in a hotly contested match.

Good Hockey Player

Many people know Jerry as an outstanding hockey player, for he is acknowledged to be one of the best in this area. A very popular and energetic student, Jerry is also a capable lacrosse and basketball player.

Jerry went to high school at Poly where he starred in tennis and ice hockey for several years.

A. A. Party

Though most of the plans are still tentative, the Athletic Association is making preparations to hold its annual end-of-the-season get together in the very near future.

In the past this affair has been held either in the form of a banquet or a shore party. Both methods have been very successful, though the latter seems to be the more popular.

8 Records Lowered

St. Joseph's of Philadelphia won 12 out of 13 events and trounced Loyola's track team, 85 to 32, on May 28 at Evergreen. The visitors not only captured the meet but they also set eight Evergreen records.

Thomas Foley, hurdle specialist, led the parade, recording new marks in both the 120 high and 220 low events. Frank Gavin ran the mile in 4:41.4, a recorded 8.6 seconds better than the previous figure.

John Kelley, two miler; Frank Corey, $80 yard runner; John O'Connell, vaulter; and Jim Frazier, javelin tosser, were the other record makers in their respective events. Frazier heaved the javelin 173 feet 5 inches, a good ten feet better than the old 163 feet 8 inch mark.

Jack Brunk took the only first for Loyola, with a 10.4 seconds 100-yard dash. Jack Smythe, Greyhound timber-topper, took second in the high and low hurdles, marking the first time he has bowed in both events.

One-Mile Run—Won by Gavin, St. Joe; second, Kaufman, Loyola; third, Hadden, St. Joe. Time—4:41.4 minutes (new record).

440-Yard Run—Won by McGlins, St. Joe; second, Atkinson, St. Joe; third, Kimmel, Loyola. Time—5:1.1 seconds.

100-Yard Dash—Won by Brunk, Loyola; second, Trunen, St. Joe; third, Rooney, St. Joe. Time—10.4 seconds.

880-Yard Run—Won by Corey, St. Joe; second, Pascek, Loyola; third, Stratton, St. Joe. Time—2:04.6 minutes (new record).

Two-Mile Run—Won by Kelley, St. Joe; second, Brown, Loyola; third, Adolph, St. Joe. Time—10:33 minutes (new record).

120-Yard High Hurdles—Won by Foley, St. Joe; second, Smythe, Loyola; third, Schuenemann, St. Joe. Time—15.8 seconds (new record).

220-Yard Low Hurdles—Won by Foley, St. Joe; second, Smythe, Loyola; third, Masokell, Loyola. Time—25.8 seconds (new record).

220-Yard Run—Won by Atkinson, St. Joe; second, Brunk, Loyola; third, Maloney, St. Joe. Time—23.4 seconds.

Broad Jump—Won by Schuenemann, St. Joe; second, McKernan, St. Joe; third, Hicks, Loyola. Distance—20 feet, 7 inches.

Shotput—Won by O'Donnell, St. Joe; second, Frazier, St. Joe; third, Mueller, Loyola. Distance—41 feet 3 inches, (new record).

Pole Vault—Won by O'Connell, St. Joe; second, Resner, St. Joe; third, McNeal, Loyola, and Oert, Loyola (tie). Height—9 feet, (new record).

Discus—Won by O'Donnell, St. Joe; second, Hicks, Loyola; third, Reynolds, St. Joe. Distance—107 feet 1/2 inch.

the ace of their pitching staff, Herb Tutwiler. Dan Boone grounded out. Lind hit a hard single to score Tucker and make it a 4-4 ball game. That was all for the Hounds in the seventh and in the game.

In the bottom of the seventh, Red Barrett hit a deep drive to Lind who scooped the ball up and threw to Semesky at first. To all in the stands it looked as if Barrett was out by at least a step but the umpire said "NO." This was the only time Lefty Reitz had come from the bench to dispute a decision all year. The rest of the team joined in, but "Safe" said the umps.

Hovis Triples

Barrett was sacrificed to second and came home as Pooch Linardi tried to save the game with a shoe string catch of Al Hovis' line drive. The hit went for a triple. Hovis scored as Linardi threw the ball in. That was the ball game as Tutwiler set the Hounds down in the eighth and ninth.

St. Joseph's Cops Test

For the second time this season, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia shackled Loyola's baseball team as the visitors came off with an 8 to 5 victory on May 21, at Evergreen.

The Greyhounds contributed materially to their own downfall by committing seven errors. St. Joseph's had a 7 to 0 lead before the Green and Gray sticksters pounded across three runs in the seventh inning.

A double by Mike Zedalis with the bases loaded accounted for the trio of tallies, and Bill Tucker drove in two more in the eighth with a single.

However, the Pennsylvania nine had picked up a single counter in their half of the eighth, to insure victory.

Intramural Season Is Successful

by Vince Bagli

In reviewing the sport's setup at Loyola during the 1947-48 season we find that the intramural program progressed very efficiently under the guidance of Mr. Francis J. Mueller.

The season opened last fall with a touch football league which saw "The Rompers" waltz off with the crown and then trounce Johns Hopkins' champs by a 45-7 count.

Bowling And Basketball

With winter came bowling and basketball. As was the case on the gridiron, "The Rompers" were the class of the league, and turned in an undefeated season in copping the diadem.

The Guilford Alleys were the scene of the bowling tourney which saw Eddie Ward topple 1807 pins to become Loyola's first intramural duckpin Champ. Johnny Norjan, Eddie McDermott, and Don London were runners-up in the event.

In the tennis tournament, Ben Spurrier outlasted thirty title aspirants to pull down first place.

Visek Wins Ping-Pong

Charley Visek and Bob Brooks fought it out for the ping-pong championship, with Visek the winner in three sets.

Now with the Spring Term in session, perhaps the biggest of all intramural sports, the softball season is getting under way. Teams have been formed and league play will start next week.

Catholic Who's Who Names Seven Faculty Members

Seven members of the faculty of Loyola College were elected to the Catholic Who's Who in America for the current period of 1948-1949. This publication is formulated and published every two years by Rumig Brothers of New York.

The Loyola faculty members were the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., the Rev. John P. Delaney, S.J., the Rev. Joseph S. Didusch, S.J., Dr. Edward A. Doehler, Dr. William D. Hoyt, the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S.J., and the Rev. John E. Wise, S.J.

Outstanding Faculty Members

All seven of the professors chosen have distinguished themselves on the Loyola College Faculty. Father Delaney has been Professor of Physics at the College for some years. Father Didusch has served as head of the College's Biology Department for a great number of his fifty years as a Loyola alumnus.

Dr. Doehler is at present Professor of History of the Evening School and formerly served on the faculty of the Day School. Dr. Hoyt is the Professor of History of the Day School.

Father Talbot Named

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., President of the College, was also named by the selective board. Father Talbot has written some outstanding historical novels. Father Higgins, Professor of Ethics, has also made numerous literary contributions to the field of Ethics.

Father Wise, Dean of the Evening School, is also assistant Professor of Theology in the Day School.

Council Elects New Officers

The Student Council elected four new officers for the coming year at their weekly meeting last Friday in the Faculty House. E. Clinton Bamberger, president of the student body, presided.

John C. Evelius, representative of the Debating Society, was elected Vice-President in an extremely close vote. Sidney Shapero who represents both the History Academy and International Relations Club was chosen Secretary, and Thomas Ostendorf, Veterans' Club delegate, was elected treasurer. A new post, that of Parliamentarian, was inaugurated, and Edward J. McNeal, president of the January 1950 class, was voted to that position.

The council will continue to meet during the spring term, conducting meetings at the new Friday morning time of 10:30 in the Faculty House.

Former Marine Assumes Post As New Caf Chief

Mr. Edward A. Hare recently replaced Mr. Edward Gorsuch as Manager of the Loyola cafeteria. Mr. Gorsuch was granted a vacation by the Slater System because of ill health. Mr. Hare will remain the permanent director of the College branch of the system; Mr. Gorsuch will be given another assignment when he returns to duty.

The newly-appointed manager came to Loyola from a position at the Western Electric Plant at Point Breeze, Maryland.

Was Former Marine

Mr. Hare has been with the Slater System over a year. He joined the company after his release from the United States Marine Corps. During the war, he served as a member of the corps for 37 months.

The restaurant business is far from new to Evergreen's new "maitre d'hotel." He had been associated with the business for some years before his induction into the service.

The manager graduated from Boston University in 1935. He had previously attended Everett High School in Everett, Massachusetts.

When questioned about his plans for the school cafeteria, Mr. Hare was somewhat wary of answering. He said, "I have always avoided making promises that are impossible to keep. At this time I am not in a position to anticipate either the problems or their solution."

Hopes To Please

Mr. Hare was very definite in his statements concerning his outlook on student opinion. He made it very clear that he was interested in each suggestion or complaint that the students might offer.

"There are always reasons for every complaint; I shall receive all suggestions with an open mind and strive to give all I can for the least I can."

You can take the high road

Have you made up your mind on what you'll do when you graduate this June? If not, consider the opportunity available to you in the Aviation Cadets.

Few jobs anywhere can match this offer. When you win your wings and a Second Lieutenant's commission, you're paid as high as $336 per month to start. The training you get before and after you're commissioned is recognized as the world's finest—and it equips you for a well-paid lifetime career in military or commercial aviation.

You're eligible for appointment to the Cadets if you're single, between 20 and 26½ years old, and have completed at least one-half the requirements for a degree from an accredited college or university (or pass an equivalent examination).

Talk the program over with men in your class who have been Aviation Cadets. And for full details, ask at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station. Why not drop in today and discuss it?
